Our enterprising friends, Dalley & Bro., are again in the field with an attractive advertisement which speaks for itself.

See new advertisement of our steady-going and prosperous saddler and harness maker, Bob Porter. He has a large stock and can suit his customers as to quality and price.

The course of human events finds W. D. Malone back at the old stand, and in charge of the lively stable as before. He again solicits the patronage of his friends and the public and will appreciate the same.

We wish to say that we are disposed to be accommodating these hard times, and will gladly take anything we may need as a "family man," or that we can make "available," in payment of debts due this office, or on new subscriptions.

From Thos. Goggin & Co., Music Publishers, we have a copy of Houston's Enterprise Grand Marches, nicely gotten up, with a lithographic view of Main street, Houston. The marches are composed by F. W. Schmidt, and dedicated to Wm. D. Cleveland.

An ice cream supper will be given at Reed's school house, near Martindale, on tomorrow (Friday) night. The object is to raise means to build an addition to the house. We acknowledge a polite invitation to be present, and would take great pleasure in attending if our other engagements should permit. We cordially wish success to so commendable object.

The Texas railroads through their Commissioner, Mr. Waldo, have agreed that they will sell, Oct. 8th to 20th inclusive, excursion tickets from all points in Texas to Atlanta, Ga., and return at one limited fare for the round trip. Tickets to be good to return until Oct. 25th. President and Mrs. Cleveland will be in Atlanta Oct. 18th, 19th and 20th. A fine opportunity for ex-Georgians and others.

Millinery. Mrs. Richardson has now a handsome stock for fall and winter that will certainly receive the patronage of the ladies of our beautiful little city. She hopes to be favored with an early inspection of her goods by her numerous customers in town and surrounding country.

To the Trade. We are closing out at cost, for cash. Some articles below cost. Our stock consists of stoves and tinware. Save money these tight times by calling on OWNBY & SON. San Marcos, Texas, Sept. 15, 1887.

To the Front Again. We mean Coptic, the grocer. He has now a full stock in all lines of his trade of the best goods which he will sell "cheaper than the cheapest" elsewhere. He is wide awake, keeps fully up with the times, keeps what is wanted, of the best quality and at prices which defy competition. Try him and be satisfied.

Attention Tax Payers. Your attention is called to the change of time for the payment of taxes made by the last legislature. The law requiring the levy on real property on which taxes are paid on the 1st day of January, 1888, will be strictly enforced. This demand is made in the name of the State of Texas and county of Hays and the Sheriff and Collector have no power to extend further time. The Collector's books are now open and he is ready to receive taxes on the 1st of January. Signed J. A. WISE, Sheriff and Collector Hays Co. By L. W. Cook, Deputy.

We left home last week with the view of making a first visit to Boerne, now a railroad town, but on reaching San Antonio learned that the rains had injured the road so as to cause a temporary interruption of the train, so we had to forego our trip. We however spent a couple of days pleasantly among old friends and former acquaintances in the city.

The excursion to Kerrville takes place on the date of our present issue, in which we have hoped to participate, and to stop over at Boerne on our return.

MARRIED.—At the residence of the bride's father in San Marcos on the 1st inst., Dr. J. A. Armstrong of Salado, to Miss May Travis, Elder J. J. Williamson officiating. Mr. Williamson came over from Lockhart under the care of the clever confederator, Geo. Briggs, who would have run his train up to the Hotchkin Hotel if it had been possible to do so. He was there joined by Dr. Armstrong and brother. Mr. Eric McCarty and wife of Austin, came down on the morning train, when a sudden rush of carriage wheels, a brief ceremony "and all went well as a marriage bell." God bless our bright little May, flower of Strington, and keep her ever happy while painting the landscapes of Salado and rivaling the bright October flowers that are waiting with their color and fragrance to welcome her to a new and lovely home.

The San Marcos Chautauque Literary and Scientific Circle will meet this evening, Oct. 6, at 8 p. m., in Prof. Richardson's school room (near residence). All members, and those who wish to join the circle, are requested to attend. J. H. COMBS, GEO. FRANKLIN, Secretary.

"Wanted, Correspondence."

We want a correspondent for every post office within the bounds of our circulation. Short letters of local news are mainly wanted, but views from different quarters as to farming, stockraising, and other material interests will also be in order.

Such letters, we need scarcely say, are as beneficial to the localities represented as to the paper. But to the right parties we will give a suitable compensation. Write for particulars.

A Bigamist's Trial.

FAIRFIELD, Tex. Sept. 29.—The case against Dr. D. Deaton, charged with bigamy, was taken up to-day. This is a peculiar case, the defendant, a dentist having come here last spring, and after winning the affections of one of the fairest young ladies here, and marrying her, was suddenly accused of bigamy, the sheriff having got what he considered conclusive evidence that Deaton had been married to a former wife and that she was still living, and when arrested he strenuously denied the charge, and now it is to be tried.

His venerable father returned to Scotland a few years ago, and is since dead.

We took dinner by invitation at Mrs. Robler's on Tuesday. It was good in all its appointments, and no mistake. She understands her business thoroughly. We cannot see how any money can be made at getting up such dinners at 25 cents, for according to our judgment the average boarder or waiter at that value at such a table as that set by Mrs. R.

We were glad to meet on Tuesday our old friend Tommy McGee, now of Paris, Texas. We spoke to him of the mineral boom in Llano, and he said it did not surprise him in the least, that he knew it as well 45 years ago as he does now.

He said he had retained a good deal of his property there, and we hope he has lived to a share of it through his superior faith and foresight.

We had a pleasant call from Dr. Barbee, of Kyle, one day this week. He reported the consummation of arrangements for securing water for the town. One hundred acres of land has been purchased of Capt. Kyle, including a natural reservoir, property, and water sufficient to supply the city. The additional ground will be laid off into lots, which will result in the extension of the city limits and population of Kyle. We congratulate the people of our sister town.

In consequence of his protracting his stay here longer than he at first anticipated, Dr. Barbee, after all the pleasure of meeting him, was mentioned last week. We found him full of the wonderful charms and progress of Southern California and were not a little interested in what he narrated on the subject. After all, however, he said that if he were to select a small town for residence he would as soon stop at San Marcos as any other he had seen. In fact he expressed himself as being highly pleased with our little city and its surroundings, and anticipated a bright future for them.

This from a gentleman of his large observation and intelligence, and coming directly from the "earthly paradise" about Los Angeles and San Diego, we could not but regard as highly complimentary.

Trains running between La Grange and Taylor, make the trip in four hours. Some think that when our road is completed to Houston they will make the run from San Antonio in seven hours, but we are inclined to think they will not do it, yet much pains is taken in putting down the track and only the very best steel and ties are used. We understand that it is to be first-class in every respect.—Lockhart Register.

Are you weak and weary, overworked and tired? Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine to purify your blood and give you strength.

The October Number of THE ELECTRIC MAGAZINE gives the place of honor to Prince Krapotkin, the celebrated nihilist who contributes an article entitled "The Coming anarchy, in which he exemplifies his expectation of the means by which the philosophy of history will solve the difficult problems now before us. "Ireland's Alternatives," by Lord Turgine, is an admirable exposition of the Anglo-Irish question. The poet Swinburne, in a paper which he calls "Whitmanism," severely attacks the claims made for Walt Whitman by his friends. Annot Reid compares the English and American Press, and Mr. W. S. Mallory continues his suggestive papers on "Wealth and the Working Classes." The two closing articles are among the best in an excellent number. "The Roman Matron and the Roman Lady," by Mrs. E. Lynn Linton, a capital study of the Roman character of women in old Rome. "The Legend of Serk," a sermon in Stones, by Sophia Weiss, a charming description of one of the most wild and picturesque of the Channel Islands.

The citizens of San Marcos and surrounding country are invited to call and make acquaintance of the St. Leonard Hotel, which they have business in San Antonio. No where in Texas can view accommodation, better fare, or more home comfort be found, for $1.50 and $2.00 per day. We have tried it and advise others to do the same.

PERSONAL.

Mayor Hardy is on the sick list.

H. O. James, of San Antonio, was in the city on Monday.

Miss Mattie Souter is assisting Mrs. Smith in the Bookstore.

Mr. Jas. O'Conry has gone to Northern Texas and does not expect to return.

We are pleased to notice the return of Mr. Lindsey in apparent good health.

Dr. W. A. McGee, of Uvalde, made a hasty visit to our town a short time since.

Miss Mattie Cone, the music teacher, is still, as at first, delighted with San Marcos.

Mr. Donahoe and family are occupying Dr. Dalley's place, recently vacated by Capt. Martin.

Mr. Frank Glover is back from Georgetown D. C., ill-health having interrupted his studies. There's no place like home when a feller's sick.

We learn that the elder of the brother Coppel will open a fruit stand on the east side of the square, adjoining Chastain & Knight's music and jewelry store.

Col. Herndon informs us that his cotton crop will be more than twice as large as he had anticipated. If that is the case generally the country will not be so badly off after all.

Rev. Mr. Biggs is still engaged on his series of sermons on baptism. We learn that Elder Driskill is taking notes, and we suppose may be expected to take issue with Mr. Biggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan, whose sons own property in Washington Territory, and have solicited their parents to come and occupy it, thought of going this fall, but have postponed it till spring.

We learn that Mrs. Mosher has effected a sale of their homestead in this place and will now soon follow her husband to "the promised land." We congratulate her. Mr. T. C. Johnson was the purchaser—price $1500. Truly a bargain.

The Mr. Piper who was drowned in the San Marcos as recorded in our last was an inebriate, had lost his position because of drunkenness, and we believe it is not doubtful that he fell from the bridge and lost his life in consequence of being intoxicated. Another victim of the saloon.

Two of the commissioners to locate the Orphan Asylum got off the cars here as we were leaving for the west on Wednesday morning last. One of them was our worthy editorial friend Mr. F. N. Oliver, of the Pilot Point News Era, and we regretted that we could not give him a passing greeting.

We met Peter Thompson, the blacksmith, formerly of this place, on our streets on Tuesday. He still resides at Austin, and we are glad to learn he is prospering, as we know he deserves to do.

His name is in Austin. His venerable father returned to Scotland a few years ago, and is since dead.

We took dinner by invitation at Mrs. Robler's on Tuesday. It was good in all its appointments, and no mistake. She understands her business thoroughly. We cannot see how any money can be made at getting up such dinners at 25 cents, for according to our judgment the average boarder or waiter at that value at such a table as that set by Mrs. R.

SCHENBERG'S MAGAZINE for October has for its leading article a richly illustrated description of "The Paris School of Fine Arts," by Henry O. Avery, who is a graduate of that institution. This number contains the seventh and concluding installment of the "Thackeray Letters." All the letters in this installment were written during Thackeray's American visits, and contain amusing and always good-natured descriptions of the leading American cities in which he lectured. Two "Thackeray portraits," taken during his life, are reproduced. "French Traits—Sensate and Sentiment," by W. O. Brownell, is an admirable essay. Prof. N. S. Shaler contributes another of the notable papers in his series relating to the surface of the earth and allied topics, this time on "Carnegie and Clava Life." The number contains a timely and thoughtful paper on "Municipal Government," by Gamaliel Bradford. "The Sacred Flame of Torii Ji," Mr. E. H. House's story of Japanese life, which was begun in September, is concluded in this number most happily. Octave Thanet contributes a strong and pathetic story of the Arkansas river-bottoms, entitled "The Mortgage on Jeff." Under the title of "In the Village of Vigor," Mr. Duncan C. Scott contributes several charming character-sketches of Canadian village life.

A singularly attractive frontispiece graces the Oct. MAGAZINE OF AMERICAN HISTORY. It is a spirited portrait of Daniel Webster, never before published, from a painting in the Long Island Historical Society, accompanied by a clever character study in the body of this excellent monthly, written by Hon. S. G. W. Benjamin, late United States minister to Persia. Ex-President Andrews, of Marietta College, discusses a topic of surpassing present interest, "The admission into the Union of Kentucky, Tennessee, and Ohio." It is a curious fact that various errors and discrepancies exist in histories, cyclopedias, almanacs, and school books concerning the beginnings of these great states and their entrance into the family, and it is a source of profound congratulation that an authority of such eminence and a writer of such force as Dr. Andrews has been persuaded to take up his pen and settle the important controverted points. Another exceptionally able and eloquent article is by Rev. Philip Schaff, D. D., the present head of the Union Theological Seminary, on the "Relationship of the Church and State in America;" James Schuler, the historian writes an agreeable chapter on "Historical Grouping." Professor Edward E. Salisbury continues two interesting letters of H. H. Greenough, Judge William A. Wood tells the stirring story of the "New Mexico Insurrection of 1846," with a sketch and portrait of General Sterling Price; Charles D. Baker has a paper on the First Dutch Church in Brooklyn; Professor Oliver P. Hubbard criticizes "An Extraordinary Indian Town;" and Col. Chas. C. Jones, Jr., LL. D., the Georgia historian, continues his valuable original documents. The editor contributes a clear, vigorously written, and informing account of "the origin of New York," illustrated with Dutch pictures. There are some bright and readable short papers in Minor Topics, Notes, and Historical and Social Jottings and several able book reviews. This popular magazine leads in every important branch of history. Price $5.00 per year. New York City: 733 Broadway.

The newspaper reporter who fabricated the intemperate speech accredited to Herr Most at the Cooper Union meeting may believe that he performed a clever piece of work, but the majority of people will look with disfavor upon such unwarranted assaults on truth. Most is doubtless a bad man and his teachings are vicious; but the devil should not be painted any blacker than he really is.—Fort Worth Gazette.

Bessemer Ore in Texas.

George M. Wakefield, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, writes to a contemporary that he and others have secured, in Llano and Mason counties, Texas, "the largest body of fine Bessemer ores and manganese," he thinks, "that has ever been found on the continent."—American Manufacturer.

A MOOD.

Something has made the world so changed, Something is lost from field and sky; And the earth and sun are sadly estranged, And the songs of nature seem turned to a cry.

Yet I heard my little neighbor tell How fair is the Spring to see.

Perhaps the change is in me.

Something has gone from your smile, sweetheart, Something I miss from your look, your tone, Though you stand quite near we are still apart; You may clasp me close, but I feel alone.

Yet over and over your love you tell, And as you say it, it must be.

Ah, well, Perhaps the change is in me.

—Albion M. Fellows in Frank Leslie's.

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

Is a complete newspaper in all that constitutes the best type of American journalism. It is a member of the Associated Press, and is the only 9-cent morning paper in Chicago that possesses this first essential to a complete news service. In addition it has its own private leased wires connecting its office with Washington and New York. IT PRINTS ALL THE NEWS.

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

Is an independent paper. It recognizes the utility of political parties as means for the accomplishment of proper ends, but it declines to regard any mere party as a fit subject for unquestioning adoration. It is unbiased in its presentation of political news.

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

Is a "short-and-to-the-point" paper. It leaves to the "blanket-sheet" the monopoly of tiresome and worthless amplification. It says all that is to be said in the shortest possible manner. It is a paper for busy people.

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

Now prints and sells over 175,000 copies per day—a larger circulation than that of all the other Chicago dailies combined. Sold by all news dealers at two cents per copy. Mailed to any address, postage prepaid, for six dollars per year, or for a shorter term at rate of fifty cents per month. Address Victor F. Lawson, Publisher, THE DAILY NEWS, 125 FIFTH AVE., CHICAGO, ILL.

The Chicago Weekly News

Eight pages, 64 columns, is the largest dollar weekly in America.

Care for the Children

Children feel the debility of the changing seasons, even more than adults, and they become cross, peevish, and uncontrollable. The blood should be cleansed and the system invigorated by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Last Spring my two children were vaccinated. Soon after they broke all out with running sores, so dreadful I thought I should lose them. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured them completely, and they have been healthy ever since. I do feel that Hood's Sarsaparilla saved my children to me." Mrs. C. L. THOMPSON, West Warren, Mass.

Purify the Blood

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over." J. W. HARRISON, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." HARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.
